4. Leadership Update - Matthew Liao-Troth	Matthew Liao-Troth, Vice President, Academic Affairs, provided an update regarding the transition of ISPS funds totaling 14 million from Foundation to ISPS oversight. Objective is to transfer the funds from an investment status to an operations status. Three tier approach currently being considered: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Operations budget - <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. Increase size to have greater impact on broader community – county, region, state b. Determine how much is needed to accomplish that. 2. Original state appropriations - <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. Should not be invested in high-risk

	b. Can be held in low or no-risk account 3. Funds generated because from the original appropriations - a. Can be invested in high-risk investments, and at the will of the ISPS Board. VP Liao-Troth added that SPC leadership is very close to having a final answer as to how this will be done in the best interest of the Institute as stewards of the funds, with respect to approval by SPC Board of Trustees. Dir. Sembler asked about the expected timeline on the plan to transfer the funds. VP Liao-Troth responded that leadership hoped to have something for the Board within a couple of days. Dir. Sembler asked about the status of the current funds. VP Liao-Troth responded that the funds are currently in a bank account, earning no interest. Chair Sullivan asked if it is possible for the funds to be moved to an account to be earning interest until a plan is in place. VP Liao-Troth responded that Foundation is prepared to move the funds as soon as soon as possible. ED Jackson explained that an investment plan should be in place before transferring the funds; a special meeting will be held for that purpose once SPC leadership provides further direction. The Institute’s budget draft is due to the Board by fiscal year end March 31, then will be presented to SPC Board of Trustees for final approval. VP Liao-Troth added that the BOT will review the budget in April. Dir. Sembler inquired as to how long the money has been sitting in the current account. VP Liao-Troth said at least a couple of months. Director Dan Mageras added that since it is in currently in cash, with the recent fluctuations in the market, at least it is not losing money where it is. Dir. Sembler explained that the Strategic Planning Committee should have ample time to deliberately review and implement objectives once a decision has been made on the funds. She asked if the timeline is being considered with this in mind. VP Liao-Troth explained that the most recent draft is considering a 3-year step-up plan, providing a thoughtful transformation, long-term strategic planning – no rush. If more operational funds are needed, then ISPS can manage the investment. ED Jackson added, regarding the strategic plan, the current team has already begun statewide initiatives, but are limited as to what can be done with the existing team. VP Liao-Troth suggested that perhaps the Institute brings in outside expertise the first year, then have inside expertise secured by the second year. Director Gershom Faulkner suggested clarification of the process: the Finance Committee comes up with a plan and presents to ISPS BOD. ED Jackson gave an overview of ISPS committees, and Board term classes. Links to document folders are provided for all committees.
5. Executive Director’s Report - Kimberly Jackson - Sam Jenkins - Matthew Lee	ED Jackson addressed the Board and reviewed the mission of ISPS: enhance understanding, educate students and citizens, engage conversation in support of effective, solution-oriented public policy; to convene for partnerships and advocacy to educate and engage the community. The Institute is about public policy. ED Jackson shared recent ISPS achievements: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Bringing all sides of political spectrum together in a productive way ● 25 programs in 2022, supporting countless others ● 92 community partners ● $41,535 raised for Autism awareness ● 18 press mentions ● increased visibility in social media

- over 6,000 newsletter subscribers. Stakeholders include Florida College System, represents approximately 850,000 students, workforce-directed programs (a key interest of Gov. DeSantis)

ED Jackson shared the focus of ISPS, moving forward: who we are and what we do determines impact and outcomes, where funds should be spent and who we should focus our impact on.

The following questionnaire was provided as a board activity:
